WILEY-BLACKWELL
The Wiley-Blackwell Companion to the Anglican Communion
The Wiley-Blackwell Companions to Religion

The Wiley-Blackwell Companions to Religion series presents a collection of the most recent scholarship and knowledge about world religions. Each volume draws together newly commissioned essays by distinguished authors in the field, and is presented in a style which is accessible to undergraduate students, as well as scholars and the interested general reader. These volumes approach the subject in a creative and forward-thinking style, providing a forum in which leading scholars in the field can make their views and research available to a wider audience.

Notes on Contributors

Titre Ande is the Bishop of Aru Diocese in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and a member of the Inter-Anglican Standing Commission for Unity, Faith and Order (IASCUFO). He was principal of the Anglican Theological College in Congo and has a doctorate from Birmingham University in the United Kingdom.

The Most Rev. Dr. Mouneer Hanna Anis is currently the Bishop of the Episcopal/Anglican Diocese of Egypt with North Africa and the Horn of Africa, as well as the President Bishop of the Episcopal/Anglican Province of Jerusalem and the Middle East. He is married and has two sons.

Katharine E. Babson is a priest of the Episcopal Church, past Episcopal Church missionary to the Church of the Province of Myanmar, adjunct faculty member in Mission and World Religion at Virginia Theological Seminary, and trustee of the Cetana Foundation, which supports advanced educational opportunity for Myanmar students whose professional skills will enhance their country’s future hope. She has worked and traveled extensively in Myanmar since 1994.

The Rev. Dr. Ricardo F. Blanco-Beledo is a priest in the Diocese of Mexico, Anglican Church of Mexico. He is ecumenical chaplain of the Theological Community of Mexico; professor in the College of Philosophy, Faculty of Philosophy and Letters, at UNAM (Autonomous National University of Mexico); and a clinical psychologist and psychoanalyst. He is the author or editor of numerous books and articles in national and international journals.

A. Hugo Blankingship, Jr. is the chancellor and deputy chair for the Anglican Church in North America. He trained and practiced as a lawyer in Northern Virginia for 55 years, and is a past president of both the Virginia Bar Association and the Virginia Board of Bar Examiners. He is the son of the Rt. Rev. Alexander Hugo Blankingship, who was Bishop of Cuba from 1939 to 1961. He has earned a BA from the University of Virginia and an LLB from the University of Virginia School of Law. Previously, he served on the boards of trustees for Episcopal High School, Virginia
Theological Seminary, and Trinity School for Ministry, and as chancellor for the Episcopal Diocese of Virginia.

The Rev. Gustavo L. Castello Branco is Brazilian and is currently the rector of Paroquia Anglicana Cristo Libertador (Anglican Parish of Christ the Liberator), in the city of João Pessoa, in the Diocese of Recife. He also works as a lawyer. Gustavo earned his masters’ degree in theology (Church History Concentration) in 2007 at Trinity School for Ministry, Ambridge, PA.

Christopher Byaruhanga is the professor of historical and systematic theology at Uganda Christian University. He holds a ThD from the General Theological Seminary in New York City. His publications include Bishop Alfred Robert Tucker and the Establishment of the African Anglican Church (Nairobi: WordAlive, 2008); Christian Theology for University Students (Kampala: Wavah Books Limited, 2005). Awards he has received include the 2005/06 Saint Luke Project Scholar (OMSC, New Haven, CT); 2009 John Jay Institute of Faith, Law and Society fellow (Colorado Springs, CO); and 2010 Washington Scholar (Family Research Council, Washington, DC).

Gregory K. Cameron is the Bishop of St. Asaph in the Church in Wales. He was deputy general secretary of the Anglican Communion between 2003 and 2009, in which capacity he served as director of Ecumenical Relations, and secretary of the Lambeth Commission on Communion which produced the Windsor Report. In 2007, he was awarded an honorary Doctorate of Divinity by the Episcopal Divinity School in honor of his commitment to reconciliation in the Anglican Communion.

George L. Carey, Baron Carey of Clifton, was the Archbishop of Canterbury from 1991 to 2002. While he was archbishop, the first women were ordained priests in the Church of England. During his tenure, there was a lively debate about homosexuality, especially at the Lambeth Conference of 1998. He graduated from King’s College, London. He is married to Eileen Hood, and they have two sons and two daughters.

Mark Chapman is vice principal of Ripon College Cuddesdon, Oxford, and reader in modern theology at the University of Oxford. He has written widely on many different aspects of church history and theology. Among his books are Anglicanism: A Very Short Introduction (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2006) and Anglican Theology (London: T & T Clark, 2012). He is a priest in the Church of England and a member of its General Synod.

Bishop Timothy J. Dakin is a former head of the Church Mission Society (2000–2012) and was previously the principal of Carlile College, a theology and business training college in Nairobi, from 1993 to 2000. He was born in East Africa but received his theological education in the United Kingdom. He was an elected member of the General Synod of the Church of England and an honorary Canon Theologian of Coventry Cathedral (2001–2012). He became the Bishop of Winchester in December 2011.
Duleep de Chickera, the former Bishop of Colombo, holds a BTh (Serampore) and an MSc (Oxn). He is a founder member of the Congress of Religions and the Friday Forum in Sri Lanka; serves on the Anglican Oriental Orthodox Conversations and the Palestine Israel Ecumenical Forum of the World Council of Churches; and is a moderator of the IR Working Group of the Churches Commission for International Affairs of the World Council of Churches. His ministerial interests include Inter-Religious dialogue, Just peace, and an Asian spirituality.

Norman Doe is a professor of law and director of the Centre for Law and Religion at Cardiff Law School. He was a member of the Lambeth Commission, and has served as a consultant in canon law to the Anglican Communion Primates’ Meeting, Lambeth Conference, Covenant Design Group, and Legal Advisers’ Network. In 2010, he was president of the European Consortium for Church and State Research, and in 2011 a visiting fellow at Trinity College, Oxford.

Mary Jane L. Dogue-is is a priest in the Episcopal Church in the Philippines, the Diocese of North Central Philippines. She was baptized Roman Catholic, but was confirmed and received in the Episcopal Church. She studied theology at St. Andrew’s Theological Seminary and is now finishing her MA at Virginia Theological Seminary. She is married with three daughters.

Andrew Goddard is associate director of the Kirby Laing Institute of Christian Ethics based in Cambridge. He also teaches Christian ethics part-time at Trinity College, Bristol, England and Anglican History and Polity for Fuller Theological Seminary’s Anglican Studies Program. He is a fellow of the Anglican Communion Institute. He has written on both ethics and Anglicanism, most recently Rowan Williams: His Legacy (Lion, 2013). He is married to Lis, who is also ordained, and they have two grown-up children.

Alan L. Hayes (BA, Pomona College; BD, PhD, McGill University) is Bishops Frederick and Heber Wilkinson Professor of the History of Christianity at Wycliffe College in the University of Toronto, and director of the Toronto School of Theology. He is the author of Anglicans in Canada: Controversies and Identity in Historical Perspective (University of Illinois Press, 2004). He is an Anglican priest in the diocese of Niagara.

The Rev. Dr. Robert S. Heaney is an Anglican priest–scholar ordained in the Church of Ireland. He is director of postgraduate studies and research at St. John’s University of Tanzania, and senior lecturer and MA course co-coordinator in the School of Theology and Religious Studies.

The Rev. Dr. Elizabeth Hoare teaches spirituality and worship at Wycliffe Hall, Oxford, and oversees missions and prayer. She is ordained with over 17 years of parish experience, all in rural ministry. Her original area of research was the English Reformation. She is currently writing a book on the link between the Desert Fathers and Celtic Christianity. She is married to an Anglican priest, and they have one son.
